

750 OF DOWIE'S FANATICS QUIT

Disgusted at Their Failure to Convert the Unregenerate of
New York, They Will Tackle
Back to Zion City.

POLICE MAKE TROUBLE
AT NIGHT MEETING.

Manager W. A. Brady Arrested for Trying to Reach His Home
—Women Jostled as They Tried to Go Through Crowd.

About 750 disgusted and discouraged members of Dowie's Restoration Host have deserted the cause and will start back for Zion City to-morrow morning on two trains, one on the Grand Trunk and the other on the Nickel Plate road. Along with them will be taken the fifty or more sick of the host. These sick are being secreted from the Health officers, who have been searching for them since they heard that many of them were children suffering with whooping cough.

Of Dowie's host of 4,000 he brought back with him from Zion City and the other 1,000 came from communities adjacent to New York. Fully one-fourth of his Zionists have given up the game and less than a week of the fight and will retreat to the more godly Zion City.

No amount of coaxing, bull-dozing or threatening on the part of Dowie would deter them from their purpose. The 750 had determined to get out of this sink-hole of the universe and Dowie could have and rant all he pleased.

New York Is Hopeless.

They expressed their intention of returning at the first meeting to-day and then Dowie and his principal lieutenants have struggled in vain to change their purpose. They can see no hope for New York and want to get out of it. From inside Zion it is said dissatisfaction exists and that more will insist on leaving to-day.

The most turbulent demonstration ever witnessed on the outside of Madison Square Garden marked the Dowie meeting last night, and once more was demonstrated the fact that the police of this city have lost the art of handling crowds.

Streets were closed all around the Garden, and William A. Brady, the theatrical manager, was arrested charged with disorderly conduct because he refused to walk around the block to get to his home in Madison Avenue. His wife, Grace George, was knocked down by a policeman while trying to reach her home from the Madison Square Theatre. Other citizens were arrested and abused. Mr. Brady, Florence Winter, an insurance superintendent, and B. O. Wheeler, a Columbia College student, were arrested in Jefferson Market Court to-day charged with disorderly conduct. Mr. Brady and Mr. Wheeler were discharged. Mr. Winter was paroled until to-morrow to give him a chance to bring witnesses who will testify to the brutality and bad judgment of the police.

Foolish Police Methods.

The crowd gathered gradually. When the Garden was full the police lines were closed. The people on the outside, hoping for some occurrence to break the monotony—perhaps the sight of Dowie being taken away in a patrol wagon—did not disperse when they found that they could not get to the doors.

By 9 o'clock a swarm estimated to number 30,000 of 30,000 persons was packed around the Garden. Naturally, the bulk of the crowd congregated in Madison Square, and the strongest police line was at Twenty-sixth street and Madison Avenue.

It was this line that Mr. Brady encountered. He was on his way home from the Madison Square Theatre with his business manager, Channing Pollock. In front of the Manhattan Club they ran against Policeman Matt McGrath, who is one of the biggest men physically on the force. He was a bartender before he became a policeman. When a bartender he was noted for his good nature. Mr. Brady insisted that the police had no right to close a street to traffic against a citizen who was on his way home. He told him he was, but McGrath would not let him through. Then came the arrest.

Mr. Brady in Court.

Mr. Brady told about it to Magistrate Mayo in the police court to-day. He and on the coat he wore last night. A missing button and a hole in the goods showing that the button had been torn was part of the evidence that he carried with him.

McGrath said that Mr. Brady had argued and tried to butt through the line for twenty minutes; that he had used abusive language, and that his arrest had been ordered by Inspector Walsh. He admitted that he had pushed the little theatrical manager.

How a Woman Was Treated.

Magistrate Mayo ordered the discharge of Mr. Brady.

Mr. Winter was the next to be arrested. He was on his way to the Garden with his wife, when he was arrested by Policeman Campbell. His wife accompanied him to the station-house and made a scene there. She was one of the witnesses in court to-day.

My clothes were torn from my back," she told the Magistrate. "In the disturbance caused by my husband's arrest, the policeman was abusive and brutal, and my treatment in the station-house was outrageous."

Not a Religious Meeting.

Young Wheeler, the Columbia student, had charge of a group of youths in the gallery who were giving the college yell. A policeman placed him under arrest. His charge was disturbing a religious meeting. He was arrested in court by a member of the Jefferson Market Bar Association.

"Your Honor," thundered the eloquent advocate, "I contend that this was not a religious meeting. In the language of the Bible, 'You're right.' Interrupted by the judge. 'The prisoner is dis-bonds for the $16,000,000 worth of first mortgage bonds and thereby crowd out the purchasers of those bonds? A. I may have, but I don't remember. Between May 1 and June 1 I wrote him a letter and told him that I disapproved of the plan. I suggested that a way out of the difficulty was to assess the stock. He said that would be impractical, as he did not believe the stockholders would pay the assessment. Mr. Schwab held $20,000,000 out of the $45,000,000 worth of stock.

OBJECTED TO SCHWAB'S PLAN.

Q. Didn't you know that this reorganization meant a repudiation of the first mortgage bonds? A. Yes, I knew that. I was a bondholder myself.

Q. Did you finally comply with this plan? A. Yes, because I knew that otherwise the company would be bankrupt, discredited abroad and unable to get any more big contracts.

Q. Did you make any effort to get assistance from Mr. Schwab so that a fairer plan for the bondholders could be formulated? A. I did not, for I knew that he would not assist the company by any other plan, even to avoid the bankruptcy of the company.

Q. What were the obligations of the United States Shipbuilding Company at that time? A. About $700,000 in notes.

Q. What were the available assets? A. Over $3,000,000.

Q. How much did the constituent companies owe? A. I do not recall.

Mr. Undermyer called to mind an affidavit made by Treasurer Gary, of the company, stating that the Trust owed but $1,000. Mr. Guthrie produced the affidavit, which was attached to the plan of reorganization. Mr. Undermyer also produced a letter written by Mr. Gary, in which he declared that the earnings of the company for the year ending May 1, 1903, would be $750,000.

Q. At whose request was that letter written? A. It was written in Mr. Pam's office.

NIXON NOT CONSULTED.

Q. Were you, as President of the company, consulted as to the statement contained in the letter? A. I was amazed that such a letter should have been sent out by Mr. Gary without consulting or even advising me of the fact. I was very angry about this letter, prepared without my knowledge and so gravely affecting and really impairing the financial standing of the company.

Mr. Nixon said that when questioned about the letter Gary declared he and Mr. Pam had prepared it.

Q. Did you ask him about the discrepancies in the statement as to the earnings of the Company? A. No.

Q. How did you finally approve of the plan of which this letter was a part? A. There was absolutely nothing left for me to do. I was forced into it as the one ray of hope of saving the Company. Every one was against me and there was absolutely no one to whom I could turn for assistance.

Q. Is it true as stated in this reorganization plan that the obligations of the company were being pressed. A. No.

Q. Was it not reported to the Stock Exchange that the earnings of the United States Shipbuilding Company were $500,000 for the first quarter? A. Yes.

Q. Were the earnings any such sum? A. No.

Q. Then the statement was false? A. I wouldn't say that, as certain styles of bookkeeping will show earnings under any and all circumstances.

Mr. Undermyer brought out that Mr. Gary, in the letter he had prepared with Mr. Pam, depreciated the earnings of the Shipbuilding Company from $1,700,000 to $700,000.

Mr. Undermyer then produced a check drawn by the Trust on the Trust Company of the Republic for $300,000. The check was drawn to the order of "Lewis Nixon or ourselves." Mr. Nixon said he knew absolutely nothing about the check, who got it or what became of it.

A MYSTERIOUS CHECK.

During recess the counsel for the bondholders went over all the checks paid out by the Shipbuilding Company for plants and found that $250,000 was absolutely unaccounted for. None of the officers of the company have any idea of what became of the money. Mr. Nixon, in whose name it was, drawn, knew nothing about it and had never seen the check.

Mr. Undermyer put in evidence the memorandum containing the sums to be paid to the vendors of the different plants. The total sum paid was $6,000,000. Besides the cash, they received $4,500,000 in bonds and $8,000,000 in stock. In order to get the $6,000,000, $10,000,000 worth of bonds were sold for $8,100,000.

Q. Is it not a fact, Mr. Nixon, that on Aug. 12 $6,250,000 was paid out instead of $6,000,000? A. Not that I was aware of.

Mr. Undermyer went over with Mr. Nixon twenty-six checks, aggregating $6,250,000. Mr. Nixon accounted for twenty-five of these checks, aggregating $6,000,000. The twenty-sixth check, made out "to the order of Lewis Nixon or ourselves," for $250,000, he could not account for.

As this fact was brought out Mr. Guthrie turned to Mr. Schwab and said: "It will be very interesting for Mr. Dresser when he has to account for that $250,000 check, but it will all come out before we get through with it."

Q. As to the destination of check No. 392 for $250,000 you know absolutely nothing? A. Absolutely nothing.

Mr. Nixon said that the Trust Company of the Republic did not account for the $250,000 check to him. He supposed it should have accounted for it to Mr. Young, the chief promoter.

Mr. Undermyer added that $10,000,000 of shares, $1,500,000 worth of bonds and $1,500,000 in cash was deposited with the Trust Company of the Republic to the account of promotion. Later this stock was for no apparent reason turned over to the Sheldon Syndicate, headed by Mr. Satterlee, J. P. Morgan's nephew.

Q. Do you remember borrowing money from the Trust Company of the Republic to pay money due to the vendors of plants? A. I remember going on $4,000,000 of notes for Mr. Dresser, who said I would help him and the Trust Company of the Republic.

Q. How was the money borrowed on those notes? A. Through Mr. J. P. Morgan's office.

Q. How did you expect that this $4,000,000 was going to be paid then? A. I understood from French underwriting.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BEGINS.

Mr. Guthrie then began to cross-examine. He asked Mr. Nixon when he saw the mysterious check for $250,000 first. Mr. Nixon said he saw it yesterday.

Q. Do you know a W. L. Brown? A. There was a Mr. Brown connected with the Trust Company of the Republic.

Q. Do you know in whose handwriting "or ourselves" in the check is? A. No.

Q. Do you know what became of the money in excess of what was paid to the vendor of plants? A. No.

Q. Have any of those commissions named in Mr. Young's commitment ever been paid? A. No; they have not been paid.

Q. Is it not a fact that the matter of a shipyard combination had been discussed for many years? A. Yes; since 1899.

Q. You had a general idea of the value of different plants and their earning capacity? A. I assumed I had.

BRYAN PRODDED ON SECRET LETTER

Lawyer for Widow Bennett Goes Into Details Concerning Missive and Dwells on Proposed $50,000 Inheritance.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 22.—William J. Bryan again occupied the witness stand in the Probate Court when the hearing on the application for probating the will of the late Philo S. Bennett was resumed to-day.

A great deal of the ground which was covered yesterday was gone over again during the cross-examination to which Mr. Bryan was subjected by Judge Henry Stoddard, counsel for Mrs. Bennett, the widow.

Judge Stoddard spent considerable time in asking Mr. Bryan why it was that in the letter which was left for Mrs. Bennett by her husband, directing her to give Mr. Bryan $50,000 for himself and family, it was not stated that a certain part of the fund was to be given to Mrs. Bryan and part to the children.

Mr. Bryan replied that it was not known, but that it was an understood between himself and Mr. Bennett, and that after Mr. Bennett's death he told Mrs. Bennett about the arrangement.

Judge Stoddard then asked Mr. Bryan if any one was present beside himself and Mr. Bennett when they discussed the letter in which the request should be made to Mrs. Bennett.

The witness answered that he did not remember but thought that Mrs. Bryan was not present, although she afterward wrote the two letters on a typewriter, one to Mrs. Bennett and one to himself relating to this point.

Judge Stoddard also inquired why it was not stated in the letter to Mrs. Bennett that Mrs. Bryan knew the contents of this sealed letter since that letter said that the writer preferred to have no one know it but Mrs. Bennett and himself.

Mr. Bryan replied that he had told Mrs. Bennett the details of the agreement when he came here after Mr. Bennett's death. He added that he presumed that it had not occurred to either Mr. Bennett or himself to mention Mrs. Bryan in the letter.

The witness was then asked to explain why he had received $300 from Mr. Bennett at the time the will was drawn up, and stated that while there was nothing said about it he supposed it to be for drawing up the document.

Mr. Stoddard then questioned the witness regarding some offers he had made to Mrs. Bennett with regard to the $50,000 bequest to himself and family.

Mr. Bryan said that he had told Mrs. Bennett that he was willing to pay the inheritance tax on the entire $50,000 bequest out of his $25,000 portion, and that he would give her $25,000 in trust for three persons who were her relatives, the balance to be invested in him in Government bonds, and the interest to be paid to Mrs. Bennett, unless he should need it because of broken health or in case of her death.

CONGRESSMAN ARRESTED.

Baker, of Brooklyn, charged with Lashing a Driver in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—Congressman Robert Baker, of Brooklyn, who is stumping Ohio in the interest of Tom L. Johnson, the Democratic candidate for Governor, was arrested here to-day, charged with lashing a driver who tried to break up a street political meeting. Baker was making a speech when the man interfered. The latter was warned by the speaker and he persisting, the trouble followed.

COIN FOUND ON PRISONER.
Mrs. Johnson's chaste purse, which she had succeeded in keeping in her hand had been torn open and some loose change snatched out during the struggle. Among this was an old coin highly prized by Mrs. Johnson, which was found in Croton's possession, the police say.

"That coin is enough to convict both men," said Capt. Gallagher. "There have been a number of robberies in this precinct during the last few weeks, committed by negro footpads. I think we have the right men now."

Alcohol in Kidney Cures Is Absurd.

EDWARD BACON CURED OF KIDNEY DISEASE OF THE WORST KIND.

Edward A. Bacon, of Greenwich Village, Mass., P.O. Box 49, writes Aug. 3, 1903: "I can truly say that Kidney-Wort Tablets have done me more good than all the doctor's medicine I have taken. I noticed a decided change for the better before I had taken the first bottle of the Tablets. I was suffering from kidney disease of the worst kind, but Kidney-Wort Tablets have stopped all inflammation and entirely cured me."

If your doctor's prescription does not fit your case, or if you have been foolish enough to take liquid kidney remedies that invariably contain dangerous alcohol—stop all other medicines and Kidney-Wort Tablets will cure you. It has cured thousands who were making no headway under their physician's care, because their doctor's prescription did not exactly hit their case.

Has your urine, your back, your general health led you to wonder if your kidneys are sound? Write Dr. Pettingill, Burlington, Vt. Give him your symptoms; he will advise you free.
